From climate change to health care, there are some big questions to answer and some big challenges to address. The Master of Public Policy program in the School of Public Policy at Penn State tackles them by creating professionals with the skills to solve problems.

PENN STATE’S SCHOOL OF PUBLIC POLICY MPP PROGRAM IS DESIGNED TO TRANSFORM TODAY’S LEARNERS INTO TOMORROW’S LEADERS.

The MPP program provides professional training for those seeking careers in the design, adoption, implementation, and evaluation of public policies. The curriculum’s focus on developing essential analytic skills and practical policy knowledge through the core curriculum, the applied capstone experience, internships, and career placement will create the next generation of effective change makers.

We provide OPPORTUNITY

Penn State is ranked in the top 1% of universities worldwide and has the most extensive alumni network in the country. A Penn State MPP degree will open doors to new opportunities. The connections you’ll build with alumni, faculty, and partners will help provide a foundation for your future career.

PUBLICPOLICY@PSU.EDU
EMPLOYERS FOR GRADUATES:
National, state, and local government
Think tanks and consulting firms
Non-profit organizations
Lobbying firms
Private sector organizations

We build EXPERTISE
Current concentrations:
Data Science/Analytics
Criminal Justice
Health Policy
Labor and Employment Relations
Children and Family Policy
Information Technology
International Public Policy

With the flexibility to design a personalized specialization to meet your career goals

Building Skills:
Policy Analysis
Data Analytics
Program Evaluation
Project and Research Design
Communication
Project Management
Problem Solving
Teamwork

We work TOGETHER
The best solutions come from including a variety of perspectives. Penn State’s recognized excellence in a range of disciplines creates opportunities for students to become experts in a wide array of analytic techniques and substantive areas that can be matched by few other universities.

PUBLICPOLICY.PSU.EDU
The Penn State MPP interdisciplinary program is designed to build the real-world skills and experience that will be essential in your future career. The curriculum draws on the strengths of Penn State’s faculty to provide an emphasis in substantive policy expertise and cutting-edge analytics. The flexibility of the program allows you to choose an existing specialization or design a specialization that meets your needs, making use of the expertise of faculty from across the University Park campus.

You’ll join a cohort of fellow graduate students from more than 40 countries around the globe. We take pride in being part of a program in one of the largest graduate schools in the nation with a global network of more than half a million alumni worldwide.

State College may be the quintessential college town, but its location in the heart of Happy Valley, surrounded by protected forests, provides endless outdoor experiences. A campus just a few hours from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York City and Washington, D.C., Penn State offers quick access to valuable professional opportunities.